

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

NEWARK

Berlin Spring Break 2017

Spend your spring break in Germany's capital city!

Information sessions will be held on Sept. 21 (12:00-2:00) and on Oct. 11 (2:00-4:00) in WC 264.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: NOV. 1, 2016

Through direct engagement with residents of Berlin and tours of historical sites and museums, you will discover what it means to live in one of the most ethnically, culturally and linguistically diverse cities in Europe. Students who are accepted will enroll in English 4400 (Literary Locations: Berlin) with Dr. Stephanie Brown in spring 2017 (3 credits) and earn an additional credit for the travel over spring break. No German language knowledge is required.

Program highlights: Guided tours of the Reichstag building (German parliament), the Jewish Museum, and the GDR (East German) Museum. Underground tour showing how Berliners survived WWII bombings. Private tours of the former headquarters of the Stasi (the East German secret police) and its infamous prison. City tour by Humboldt University colleagues that includes the historically rich Kreuzberg neighborhood and remnants of the Berlin Wall. Evenings to explore cultural activities and nightlife.

Prerequisites: Good academic standing; English 1110 (may be taken concurrently)

Program fee: All accepted Newark campus students will receive a scholarship to bring the program fee to $1000. The program fee covers the costs of the flight, accommodation in a small hotel housed in a 19th-century villa, daily breakfast, public transportation, all museum entries and tours, 1-2 group meals.

For more details: Contact resident directors Stephanie Brown (brown.2596@osu.edu) or Stephen Evans (evans.850@osu.edu). For information on this or other education abroad programs, contact Virginia Cope (cope.38@osu.edu) and check out the Office of International Affairs website (<https://oia.osu.edu/education-abroad.html>).